FOR IMMEDIATE RELEASE

Superlift Releases Innovative 4-Link Upgrade
For 2005-07 Ford Super Duty 4x4s

West Monroe, LA – Superlift bolsters its 4", 6" and 8" lift system offerings for 2005-2007 Ford F-250/F-350 4x4s with a revolutionary front 4-link upgrade system. Replacing the factory radius-arm arrangement offers several advantages, primarily less caster change as the suspension cycles. This yields more stable steering and handling traits in all terrain types, on-road or off.

Furthermore, Superlift's adjustable Rockrunner lower links allow infinite caster adjustment. The real-world benefit is for Super Duty owners who haul or tow: Caster is lost as the rear squats from being loaded or towing, and the Rockrunner arms' ability to provide additional caster improves steering predictability and feel. Also, the 4-link generates less bind as the suspension travels, which improves ride.

The 4-link arms are made from 2" OD x .188" wall-thickness DOM tubing and .25" steel plate. Arms are equipped with greasable, high-density urethane eye bushings, which deform less under load and improve control.

Installation involves attaching the 4-link's arm brackets to the existing lift system's radius-arm relocation brackets. The factory steel-encased rubber bushings are retained at link-to-axle mounting points to reduce vibration and shock transfer.

Shown here with the optional dual-shock hoop and Superide SSR remote-reservoir shocks, the Super Duty 4-link kit can also be ordered with Superide Standard series shocks or SS series monotube shocks by Bilstein. Superlift also recommends its Dual Steering Stabilizer kit, available with standard mounting brackets or with the 3-D "flame" logo.

Other popular Superlift Super Duty options include Torque Max Traction Bars to counter axle-wrap, Rail Wraps brushed-stainless steel frame panels, a brushed-stainless skid plate with the laser-cut Superlift "flaming oval" logo and eXtreme Ring diff covers to protect both pumpkins. All Superlift products are backed by a Limited Lifetime Warranty.
